Course Description

While the federal government captures most of the public's attention, especially while we are in the midst of a partial shutdown, most of our interactions with government occur at the state and local levels. State government provides most funding for local schools, provides funding for state highways, and regulates many industries. County government administers welfare programs, health regulations, and operates local jails. City government makes sure the street lights work, collects garbage, provides water and sewer services, and provides police and fire protection. School districts are their own government entities that have power to tax citizens and operate local schools. Much of the services government provides, though, are intertwined among different levels of government, and you will learn how state and local government operates during the course.

Course Objectives

This course satisfies three credits of the university's Social and History General Education requirements. The goals of the course include:

1. Introducing students to the American system federalism, the relationships between the different levels of government, how state and local government are organized to perform an array of functions and,
2. Challenging students to think critically about the American system of government as the basis for further study.

Textbooks and other readings

Gray, Virginia H., Russell L. Hanson, and Thad Kousser. Politics in the American States: A Comparative Analysis. 11th edition. Washington, D.C.: CQ Press. ISBN: 978-1-5063-6362-2. Required

Other readings will be posted on D2L.

Grading

Two midterm exams: 30% (15% each)

Final exam: 20%

Federalism analysis paper: 15%

Government meeting summary: 10%

Reading quizzes: 10%

Participation: 15%

Final grade scale: A = 93% and above, A- = 90%-93%, B+ = 87%-89%, B = 83%-86%, B- = 80%-82%, C+ = 77%-79%, C = 73%-76%, C- = 70%-72%, D+ = 67%-69%, D = 60%-66%, F = 59% and below (Note: I do not round up final grades if you are just below the cutoff, such as having a 92.8%. I have to define the scale at some point, and some people are always going to fall on the other side of the divide. Do not beg to be bumped up. If you have any concerns about grades for individual assignments, please see me. I do have a 48-hour “cooling off” policy and you have to see me about any grade appeals within a week of me grading an assignment. If you appeal, you need to write a 2-3 paragraph summary of why you think the grade you received does not reflect your work).

Exams (Two midterms at 15% each and final exam worth 20%): Three exams will be administered during the semester. The final exam is cumulative. Exams consist of multiple-choice and essay questions. If you miss an exam, you can take a make-up exam during University Day (Friday, Apr. 29). Unfortunately, I will not allow more than one make-up exam unless both absences are due to university sponsored events such as athletics or conferences.

Federalism analysis paper (15%): You will write a 7-8 page paper outlining how both state and local governments address an issue of your choice. More details will be posted in D2L. A one-page proposal will be due Friday, March 15, that is worth 5 percent of your paper grade. An annotated bibliography will be due Friday, April 5, that is worth 10 percent of your paper grade. Final papers are due by the end of the day Wednesday, April 24.

Government meeting summary (5%): You will need to attend both city council and a school board meeting during the semester. You will need to write a 2-3 page summary of each meeting addressing the major topics covered, any controversial issues discussed, and your thoughts on the process as a whole. You will also need to provide a hard copy of the minutes of the meeting. If you participate in the State Capitol field trip on Tuesday, March 12, you can write a 4-page summary of the day, including what you did, who you met, what you learned, and what would you like to do if you could visit next time. A hard copy of your paper and minutes must be handed in class by Friday, April 12, as well as a copy of your summary uploaded to D2L that same day.

Reading quizzes (10%): I will give pop quizzes throughout the semester based on that day’s readings. Quizzes will be multiple-choice and are designed to test whether you read the material, as reading beforehand helps generate good discussion. As each individual quiz is worth little to your overall grade, quizzes cannot be made up.

Participation (10%): While this is an intro class where I will lecture frequently, class participation is essential to your learning, and also because you do not want me to drone on for an hour (My wife will attest to that!). Since I assume you have read the material since there are reading quizzes, everyone should be prepared to contribute. I am not looking for the right answer when I look for responses. I am also looking to move along the conversation a bit and help flesh out any questions. I will call on everyone at some point during the semester, so be prepared to answer questions and offer your thoughts. There will be times when we get to debate issues. If you miss more than six classes with unexcused absences, you lose half of your participation points. If you are absent due to university sponsored events, you will need to email me a 1-2 page reaction to the readings with questions before class.

Grading notes: Proper spelling, punctuation, grammar, and sentence structure will be assessed as part of your exam and paper grades. Developing the ability to write clearly is an important skill for your future careers. You are expected to carefully read, edit, and proofread their written work. If you would like help with your writing skills, there are on-campus resources that are there to help you. The university offers help in various subjects through the Academic Support Center. Assistance is free and is available in the Student Union Building. Drop-in writing help is available from 9 a.m. – 2 p.m. Monday-Thursday.

Laptop/Cell Phone Policy

I understand many of you use your computers and tablets to take notes. If you do so, you will need to choose a seat along the walls so your screens will not be distracting to others. I do not allow cell phones in class, so if you need to text, please step out for a moment (but don't make it a habit). I will stop class and wait if I see any texting.

Email etiquette

I try to answer emails the same day they are received, but in some cases, you may have to wait 48 hours for a response. For emails, please use an appropriate subject and appropriate salutations (e.g. Dr. Adkins or Prof. Adkins). Professors do not like it when you start with "Hey!" or "Yo!" Keep emails as short as possible and please do not email about the details of an assignment on the day it is due. I hold five office hours per week and am available by appointment outside of those hours and my other classes if needed.

Assignment and late work policy

All papers should use 12-point Times New Roman font, be double-spaced, and use 1-inch margins. You may use APA or Chicago (parenthetical) Style for your citations. All assignments must be turned in on D2L unless noted. No exceptions will be made. All assignments must be in a Word file (.doc or .docx). Any other file format such as .pdf, .rtf, or Apple Pages will not be accepted and returned with a zero. Google Docs and Pages can export to a Word format. Late work will not be accepted. However, life happens. I allow one no-questions asked late pass good for a 48-hour extension on the paper assignments. You just need to email me if you need to use one. If you run into issues in completing assignments, visit me during office hours, especially 1-2 weeks before papers are due. Be proactive instead of reactive. I cannot do much to help once due dates have come and gone.

Registration Requirement

University policy requires all students to be officially registered in each class they are attending. Students who are not officially registered for a course by published deadlines should not be attending classes and will not receive credit or a grade for the course. Please confirm enrollment in MyInfo. Registration errors must be corrected prior to university deadlines. After the deadline for withdrawing for the class without instructor permission, I will only give permission to those who experience a documented emergency such as serious illness or death in the family that occurs after the deadline.

Plagiarism and Academic Honesty

Use of the intellectual property of others without attributing it to them is considered a serious academic offense. I will either give a zero for an assignment or you will fail the course if I detect academic misconduct. It can also lead to a disciplinary hearing where sanctions can suspension or expulsion from the university. I report all instances of plagiarism to Student Affairs. The university's policy on academic misconduct can be found in Section B of the student handbook. I will provide links to how to avoid plagiarism on D2L. I am available to help. However, you are responsible for learning how to properly cite your sources and avoid plagiarism.

Student Accessibility

MSU Billings is committed to providing equal access. If you anticipate barriers related to the format or requirements of this course, please meet with me so that we can discuss ways to ensure your full participation in the course. If you determine that disability-related accommodations are necessary, please contact Disability Support Services (657-2283; located in Room 135 in the College of Education). We can then plan how best to coordinate your accommodations.
